

A Special e-Report
by D. L. Christopher

The Win/Place Parlay

Introduction

About thirty years ago I developed a betting scheme that can be called The Win/Place Parlay. While I have always been confident that this method could be used successfully by a wide audience – and, in fact, I have profited by it over the years – writing this Special Report has “slipped between the cracks.” There was always something that needed to be done first, including my hobby of writing short stories. Today, the colorful spectator sport of thoroughbred racing exists in a totally new environment – and, fortunately, one that benefits my parlay method. Simulcasting and online betting have been a boon.

My editor, an honest but ambitious fellow, suggested that I also attach a catchy subtitle; something like “How to Turn $40 into $1,000 in a Single Day.” However, I will leave the subtitle to the reader. “The proof is in the pudding,” as the saying goes.

To benefit, it is not necessary to be a user of our new online Winning at the Track program. One must find a key horse (i.e., finishing first or second) a majority of the time. However, the method explained herein assumes that many readers are using the interactive speed/pace program where the key is normally found among the top-3 PM-rated horses. But exactly how one arrives at that end is not relevant here.

This Special e-Report is dedicated to all serious handicappers who have diligently searched over the years for the Holy Grail. I hope The Win/Place Parlay proves to be helpful in that quest.
